

1 Arbitrage crashes and speed of capital

If arbitrageurs lose access to debt capital, and if they are unable to replace the lost debt capital with new equity capital, they would be unable to force prices of similar assets to the same level i.e. mispricings would result (not creating an arbitrage opportunity).